Spacecraft Speeds Along In Third Day of Marathon

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The first "space striptease" by a U.S. astronaut was performed successfully today and James A. Novell rode comfortably through space in his long underwear.

"Jim's all out of his suit and comfortable," command pilot Frank Borman reported to the Carnarvon, Australia, tracking station during the 29th orbit of the 14-day Gemini 7 endurance mission.

De Gaulle Is Handed Big Rebuff

Maintains Silence After Vote Shows Runoff Necessary

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle maintained silence today after French voters handed a stinging rebuff to his bid for first-round victory in the presidential election.

With a record turnout of 84.9 per cent of the voters, De Gaulle polled only 43.96 per cent of the vote in the first round of voting Sunday. This forced him into a run-off Dec. 19 with left-winger Francois Mitterrand, the No. 2 man in the six-man race.

Some Gaullist officials had predicted before the election that if De Gaulle did not get the massive endorsement he wanted, he would refuse to run in the second round. Other officials differed.

"The general is a fighter," said one supporter, "and he will not abandon the combat now." A second-round victory was considered in the bag for De Gaulle if he runs. Although his image was bruised by the outcome Sunday, it is not likely that he will change his attitudes and ways.

In department after department where he had shown strength in other electoral tests, De Gaulle polled less than 50 per cent of the votes.

Eight People Killed Over The Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eight persons were killed in traffic accidents in Missouri over the weekend.

Mrs. Barbara Collier, 31, St. Charles, was killed Sunday when her car struck the pillar of an overpass on Highway 70 on the outskirts of St. Louis. The engine of the car was driven into the rear seat by the impact.

Two men died Sunday in the head-on crash of their cars in Kansas City North, in the north-bound lane of Interstate 29. The victims were Walter McCaslin, 48, of Kansas City North and Walter Thomas, 26, of Lake Waukomis.

A soldier at Fort Leonard Wood, Robert C. Yochum, 21, of Ottumwa, Iowa, was killed Saturday night when his car overturned on a curve of Route 63 east of LaPlata.

Jerry T. Atwill, 37, Iberia, Mo., was killed Saturday when his car overturned on a curve of a county lake road near Camden.

Two persons were killed in a collision Saturday night on Missouri 13, five miles north of Lowry City. The dead were Henry C. Ruble, 30, of Lebanon, the driver of one car, and Mrs. Annis Irene Frederick, 60, of Raytown, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Arthur Harold Frederick, 70.

The highway patrol said the Ruble car went off the wrong side of the road while rounding a curve at high speed, and the Frederick car struck it on the left side.

Vernon Winford Wade, 28, Joplin, Mo., was killed Saturday on U. S. 66 just west of Joplin, when his car missed a curve, hit a culvert and then flew 200 feet through the air, landing on its top.

Three persons were killed in traffic accidents in Kansas over the weekend.

The experiment, treated humorously by the astronauts in their conversation with ground stations, was important because it was a step toward the time when spacemen on long flights will be able to perform their duties in shirt-sleeve environment rather than in the cumbersome space suits.

As the Gemini 7 spacecraft sped smoothly along in the third day of its two-week marathon, preparations moved ahead at a rapid rate for the attempt by two manned craft to carry out the world's first rendezvous in space.

Paul Haney, the voice of Mission Control at Houston, reported pad crews were running 14 to 16 hours ahead of schedule in the race to launch astronauts Walter Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford in the Gemini 6 spaceship from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The launch is scheduled for Dec. 13, in the ninth day of the scheduled Gemini 7 endurance mission, but Haney said Flight Director Chris C. Kraft was "looking into that eighth day possibility."

At Cape Kennedy, however, a space agency spokesman said the crew was that far ahead in only one phase of the operation—the electrical mating of the spacecraft to the Titan 2 booster rocket.

A spokesman for the Martin Co., prime rocket contractor, said the booster phase of the preparations was only about four hours ahead. He added that the possibility of a Dec. 12 launch was rather slim.

The Gemini 6 spacecraft will fly at 17,500 miles an hour in pursuit of the Gemini 7. Pilots of the two ships will attempt to rendezvous in the skies and score a spectacular space first by flying in formation several hours.

Gemini 7 began its 28th orbit at 9:40 a.m. (EST).

As Borman and Lovell awoke from a sound sleep, Russia was attempting to stage its own spectacular.

Highest In 35 Years

Interest Rate Boost Draws Rebuke From the President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overriding the President's economic policy, the Federal Reserve Board increased interest rates to their highest level in 35 years today and the stock market reacted by plunging.

A total of 3.94-million shares changed hands during the first hour the New York Stock Exchange was open, the largest total for an opening hour since the exchange began listing hourly transaction figures in 1933.

Some blue chip stocks fell 2 or more points. At the end of the first half hour, the Dow Jones industrial average was down 14.98 to 931.12.

Boosting of the interest rates brought an immediate rebuke from the President.

The board announced its decision Sunday night, saying higher rates will help prevent inflation and aid in overcoming the persistent U.S. balance-of-payments deficit.

It ordered: — An increase in the discount rate from 4 to 4.5 per cent, its highest level since 1930. This is the interest the 12 regional Federal Reserve banks charge on loans made to member commercial banks. Any upward movement generally spreads throughout the entire credit structure — applying to consumers who buy houses, cars and other goods on the installment plan.

— An increase in the maximum interest banks may pay on specified time deposits of more than 30 days from 4.5 to 5.5 per cent, its highest level ever. This might tend to attract money from other areas — the stock market, savings and loan associations, for example — into the banks.

The board left unchanged the 4 per cent interest ceiling on regular savings accounts.

The administration is powerless to alter the actions. Although board members are appointed by the President, they compose an independent agency, subordinate to no one.

In Johnson City, Tex., President Johnson said: "I regret, as do most Americans, any action that raises the cost of credit, particularly for homes, schools, hospitals and factories."

State Board Approves

Way Cleared for April Vote On Junior College District

The State Board of Education approved a Pettis-Benton County junior college proposal Monday morning and cleared the way for an election in April, 1966, calling for organization of the college district.

Word of the state board's approval was received personally in Jefferson City by a committee of Sedalians who were in the capital city to await a decision on the proposal which would locate the college here. They included David G. Curry, chairman of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce committee which has been spearheading junior college effort; Robert Schulz, first vice president of the Jaycees; Firmin Boul, a member of the Jaycee board of directors; and Sam E. Boyle, executive secretary of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Curry told the Democrat-Capital that members of the Jaycee committee would begin work immediately to stage a campaign in behalf of the junior college proposal. Voters will ballot on the proposition to organize the college district at regular school elections in April in the school districts involved.

Included in the proposed junior college district are all the school districts in Pettis County plus three in Benton County — Cole Camp, Lincoln and Warsaw.

The proposal, along with signed petitions from the districts included, was submitted to the State Board of Education last week. Work on preparing a new proposal had been underway since last December when a Jaycee survey committee withdrew a previous junior college proposal submitted to the state board.

Boundary lines for the district were redrawn to exclude two Cooper County districts, Buncheon and Pilot Grove, which had been included in last year's proposal. Also dropped from the earlier proposed district was the Ottaville school district.

Members of the survey committee pointed out, however, that expansion of a junior college district through annexation is relatively easy should other school districts desire to join at a later date.

Toss Stocks Into Severe Loss Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was thrown for a severe loss today by the Federal Reserve Board's increase of the discount rate but then started a comeback in very heavy trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks plunged 17.60 points in the first hour and then pared its loss to 10.36 at 9:54 a.m. by noon.

Trading in the first hour was the heaviest on record. The New York Stock Exchange's high speed ticker tape fell 13 minutes behind in reporting floor transactions. Volume between 10 a.m. and noon totaled 6.15 million shares.

Prices of some stocks fell as much as $5 a share.

Some brokers said they were not surprised by the first hour weakness of the market and that they looked for a rebound

Between 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. 3.94 million shares changed hands. This was the largest total for a first hour since exchange began issuing transaction figures on an hourly basis on May 19, 1933. The previous record was 2.93 million shares in the first hour last Sept. 23rd.

Air Force, Navy Jets Help Hold Off Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Caught in murderous machine-gun crossfire from a Communist regiment, U.S. infantrymen stood off wave after wave of attacks with help from the sky by U.S. Air Force and Navy jets.

The battle 40 miles northwest of Saigon raged Sunday near the bloodied rubber plantation where U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have been hunting the Communists for days following the near destruction of the Vietnamese army 7th Regiment Nov. 27.

Defy Demand To Squash Rebellion

British Facing Diplomatic Break With 36 Nations

LONDON (AP) — The British government today defied the demands of 36 African nations to crush Rhodesia's rebellion by mid-December.

In doing so, Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his Cabinet faced the risk of a diplomatic break with member nations of the Organization of African Unity, which called Friday for quick and forceful British action against Prime Minister Ian Smith's breakaway Rhodesian regime.

Wilson first gave word of Britain's reaction when he told an interviewer he intends to end Rhodesia's rebellion without bloodshed and, if possible, by negotiation.

Then, Commonwealth Relations Secretary Arthur Bottomley reported to Wilson and his ministers on the outcome of his exchanges with President Kenneth Kaunda. The Zambian leader had asked for British military seizure of Kariba Dam and its installations.

Afterward a high government source said:

"President Kaunda's request is quite unacceptable. No agreement is possible, at least for the time being, and no British ground force will be sent to Zambia as things stand now."

"The issue therefore can be considered shelved," he concluded.

Could Happen Again

Get Preliminary Report On Giant Power Failure

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson was told today the massive Northeast power blackout didn't have to happen — yet could happen again. Experts urged new precautions and perhaps new legislation.

Johnson got a 95-page printed report on preliminary findings by the Federal Power Commission in a Johnson-ordered investigation of the Nov. 9 power failure that affected 30 million people in the United States and Canada.

To discuss the report, the President summoned retiring FPC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler to the LBJ Ranch near here.

According to the report, the chain reaction that plunged 80,000 square miles into darkness could have been avoided had employees at Canada's Sir Adam Beck hydroelectric plant on the Niagara River reset an electric relay to handle power loads that had increased significantly since the device was last set in 1963.

Allegations of man-failure were not limited, however, to the Beck plant. The report also said:

—Employees of the Consolidated Edison Co. perhaps could have prevented the blackout from enveloping all of New York City had they acted quickly to shut down parts of their system at the first warning of trouble.

—The complete collapse of the interconnected power system in the Northeast might have been avoided had employees of many individual utility firms taken similar action.

—The chief operating engineer of Consolidated Edison told the FPC that, with benefit of hindsight, power might have been restored in New York City twice or even four times faster. The blackout there lasted from 8 to 13 hours, depending on the section of the city.

"There is no evidence whatever that sabotage was involved in any stage of the power failure," the FPC concluded. It said the impact of the blackout on military and civil defense installations "appears to have been negligible" because most had emergency power supplies.

Johnson said in a statement: "Many of the commission's initial recommendations are already being implemented by the power companies. This effort must be continued until we have

Laud Pilots For Landing After Crash

Pilot Apparently Sacrificed Life In Saving Others

— Eastern Airlines pilot Charles J. White apparently sacrificed his life while helping to evacuate passengers after crash-landing his propeller-driven plane following a collision Saturday with a Trans World Airlines jet.

Three other persons lost their lives and 50 were injured. The two planes carried 112 persons. Survivors and investigators alike praised the flying skill of White and of the TWA pilot, Capt. Thomas H. Carroll, who guided his craft — minus a 30-foot section of wing — to a safe landing at Kennedy International Airport.

Federal investigators are probing the cause of the crash. The body of Capt. White, 42, a World War II bomber pilot, was found Sunday midway down the smashed and charred cabin of his four-engine Constellation.

Standing beside the wreckage, Oscar Bakke, regional director of the Federal Aviation Agency, said: "All I can say is it is fantastic that people walked away. The pilot must have done a wonderful job."

The planes collided about two miles above northeastern Westchester County, flying at a combined speed of perhaps 1,000 miles an hour. White was piloting his ship on a shuttle run from Boston to Newark, N.J. The TWA jet was en route non-stop to New York from San Francisco.

Pope Accepts Council Vote On Schema

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council gave a decisive vote of approval today to its final schema, on modern world problems.

Pope Paul VI promptly accepted the document although an unusually large number of prelates voted against its blanket condemnation of nuclear warfare.

The fiercely contested schema emerged from the voting with the largest bloc of opposition votes of any of the council's decrees — 251. Council spokesmen said 2,111 prelates voted for it.

Spokesmen said the chapter on war and peace containing the condemnation of nuclear warfare had been opposed by 483 council fathers in earlier section-by-section voting. The chapter got 1,710 favorable votes, well above the required two-thirds majority but relatively low as council votes have gone.

Many American prelates opposed the ban-the-bomb tone in the section.

Council spokesmen said another key section of the document, urging further birth control studies and suggesting Roman Catholicism's ban on contraception may not be final, was approved by a vote of 2,047-155 in the section-by-section vote.

The vote in St. Peter's Basilica completed the work of the three-year-old council. The schema and three others will be proclaimed at a public session in St. Peter's Basilica Tuesday and the council will come to a ceremonial end Wednesday.

Pope Paul VI proclaimed a five-month special jubilee for the world's 500 million Roman Catholics to promote the council's decisions. He outlined a program of celebration "in every diocese of the Catholic world from Jan. 1 to May 29 (Pentecost Sunday)."

I asked my readers if this letter could have come from THEIR state. Here is a sampling of the replies.

More North Viet Troops Reported In Saigon Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four North Vietnamese regiments have moved to within 60 miles of Saigon as Communist strength in South Viet Nam reached a record high, informed military sources report.

In all, nine North Vietnamese regular regiments have been confirmed as present in South Viet Nam, two more than reported earlier.

Intelligence estimates say the northern units total about 20,000 men. Viet Cong strength is given at about 234,000 full-time guerrillas.

The invasion by North Viet Nam — and officials here call it just that — began slowly earlier this year. The present level of infiltration runs in excess of about a regiment a month. The figure is expected to double soon to 4,500 a month.

The four highly mobile regiments, whose positions can and do change overnight, are ranged in a fan from northwest of the capital near the Cambodian border in Tay Ninh Province through Binh Long to the eastern edge of Long Khanh Province.

Although no one expects an all-out assault on Saigon, the sudden strengthening of Communist forces, in what has long been Viet Cong-dominated territory, certainly will mean bitter fighting for the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and Vietnamese units north of Saigon.

A South Vietnamese regiment was destroyed in vicious fighting 35 miles north of Saigon last week.

As the invasion steps up, more information on North Vietnamese movements comes from defectors and prisoners.

The five and possibly six regiments operating in the central highlands are supplied by two recently completed roads and by air, via Cambodia. A dirt airfield is about four miles inside Cambodia, northwest of Pleiku, the Vietnamese Highland Corps headquarters.

Three of the regiments there are from the North Vietnamese 325th Division, which formerly had its headquarters in northern Cambodia near the Laotian frontier. Now its headquarters in west of Kontum City in South Viet Nam, about 260 miles north of Saigon.

The division brought in an estimated total of 25,000 tons of supplies before it opened its campaign for control of the highlands. Its headquarters is large, highly mobile and includes more than 1,000 men and a radio network.

A key factor about the northern regiments, which number from 2,000 to 2,500 men each, is that they are fighting units with a minimum of personnel who do not carry guns into action.

Prisoners from the division have said they moved by truck from Cambodia into the Ia Drang Valley area for the recent battle with the U.S. 1st Cavalry. Some had Cambodian money, and most described life as pleasant across the border.

Diplomatic sources say use of Cambodian territory by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong does not necessarily imply collusion with the Cambodian government. On the contrary, many believe, Prince Sihanouk, the Cambodian head of state, is powerless to act short of entering the war.

The North Vietnamese units do not depend on the countryside or captured weapons for their supplies and arms. They are outfitted and well supplied with the latest Communist-bloc weapons, mostly made in Red China.

Generally, the morale of the North Vietnamese troops is considered good, their discipline and dedication excellent.

Despite what one military source called a thousand reports of Chinese Communists operating in South Viet Nam, there is no proof of this, according to military circles.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong share a historic aversion to the Chinese and have developed tactics so good they may believe foreign advisers would be superfluous.

All the North Vietnamese troops are north of Saigon and have yet to appear in the fertile Mekong delta. No American troops are in the delta. This suggests that the North Vietnamese regulars are under orders to concentrate on the destruction of American units.

Max Baer Appearance Deceiving

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Appearances can deceive, as in the case of Max Baer.

Folks who think of him as the happy-go-lucky Jethro of "The Beverly Hillbillies" should take a closer look. That's not easy, since Max sees few persons outside his close circle of friends, mostly non-actors — "I'm not fond of actor types."

Nor does Max cotton to interviews; he has eluded them in recent times. Inexplicably, he consented to a luncheon chat, perhaps to explain why he doesn't like interviews.

"Did you see that show about Sinatra on CBS?" he asked. "Sinatra was explaining his attitude about publicity and he quoted something Bogart had told him. He said, 'All I owe the public is a good performance.'"

"That's how I feel. I am damned good at what I have to do and don't try to tell me that playing Jethro is easy, because it isn't. Well, I do my job and that's it. That's all the public is going to get from me."

Anyway, he is honest. He demonstrates that by turning down the big-money offers to play state fairs, Las Vegas night spots, shopping centers, etc.

I tried that early in the game and I hated it," he explained. "I'm not an entertainer; I can't sing or dance or tell funny stories. So people would be paying just to see me in the flesh. That is demeaning. They couldn't pay me enough to do it again."

The why of Max Baer is not easy to determine, since he reveals little of himself. A restless spirit is evident. He graduated in business administration from the University of Santa Clara, but he indicated that his real education came afterward.

"A friend and I spent four months traveling all over the country in freight cars," he recalled. "We lived in hobo jungles and of course we had to steal a little to survive. I mean like a can or two lifted from a grocery store."

After six months in the Air Force, Max came to Hollywood, but not necessarily to act.

"I went into acting because I was hungry," he explained. "I mean like starving. Before that? I was in bookmaking. I wasn't a gambler, really, because you can't lose paying track odds. I was doing very well until I got raided."

"After that was when I got

The salt content of the Dead Sea, whose content is 25 per cent compared with 4 per cent to 6 per cent for the ocean, is so high that bathers can float continually. The salts come from saline streams and hot springs nearby. Other sources are the many sulphur springs that rise from the foot of the long cliffs bordering it. Fish cannot survive in its waters.

Only One Salary

BOSTON (AP) — City Councilman Paul P. Callahan of Malden cannot collect his $3,500 council salary because of his $7,600-a-year job as assistant school principal.

The State Supreme Court recently upheld a District Court decision based on a state law barring a councilman from drawing more than one municipal salary.

hungry. So I turned to acting, and I made it entirely on my own; I didn't trade on my father's name. That's another reason I don't owe anybody anything. I did it all by myself."

Wine Not A Luxury

BONN, Germany (AP) — German sparkling wine isn't a luxury any more, the industry contends, but a people's drink. The argument is being pressed by Chairman Diether Hummel of the Union of German Champagne Cellars in opposition to a West German government plan to increase the tax from 25 to 37½ cents per bottle.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board is crossing swords with the administration.

The government has sharpened its sword in an attempt to slice the balance-of-payments deficit.

ECONOMICS: Interest rates reach their highest level since 1930 today as the Federal Reserve Board bypasses administration economic policy.

The board says the higher rates will help prevent inflation and aid in overcoming the balance-of-payments deficit.

By its action, the board rejected administration contentions that such boosts weren't needed.

Nonetheless, the administration is powerless to alter the board decree. It is an independent agency, responsible to no superior. Its order raises the discount rate from 4 to 4.5 percent, and the maximum interest banks may pay on specified time deposits of more than 30 days from 4.5 to 5.5 percent.

PAYMENTS: The Johnson administration has taken another step in its drive to cut the balance-of-payments deficit.

Earlier this year, it asked U.S. businessmen to reduce voluntarily their overseas investments.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor say that program has been a success, and now they are asking more firms to join in the program, and have established guidelines for them to follow.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.: "They want the same kinds of things we want here in the United States. If we can transport those ideas and those concepts and those ideals to Latin America and show that we stand for them there also, that is the best antidote for dealing with any of the kind of problems that we have in Latin America." The Defense Department is requiring foreign ship operators who carry military supplies to South Vietnam to guarantee the loyalty of their crews. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will sponsor 10-week study programs next summer for about 150 young university faculty members.

Penney Employees Get Holiday Checks

Associates at the J. C. Penney Company department store will receive a special Christmas payment today.

Manager R. C. Rudisill explained that the payment will go to regular associates employed on or before Dec. 31, 1964, with the exception of members of the management staff.

Said Rudisill: "The special Christmas payment is one of many benefits available to Penney associates. It is offered as further testimony of the Company's interest in the welfare of the people who contribute so much to our operation."

The payment this year is in addition to regular Company provisions for sick benefits, medical insurance, non-contributory group life insurance, Penco Profit-Sharing Retirement Plan, discounts on purchases along with others.

Plan Formal Dance At School Saturday

Preparations for the Archives Dance, Smith-Cotton's Christmas formal, were the main topic of discussion at a meeting held recently. The dance will be Saturday, Dec. 11 at the cafeteria. Decorations for the dance are under the direction of the Archives artists, Penny Wendt and Patty Eberting. Music will be provided by "The Rogues," a dance band from the Missouri University.

Miss Linda Schroeder will be crowned Archives Queen. Dee Dee Silverman and Paula Edwards are queen attendants.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Five plane loads of Chilean soldiers were reported enroute to a disputed border area today while Chile and Argentina completed plans to hold high-level ministers' talks to ease the border tension.

Chile's largest newspaper, El Mercurio, said the troops were flown to Puerto Montt, about 750 miles south of Santiago, and would continue farther south to the remote border area when weather permitted.

Defense Ministers Juan de Dios Carmona of Chile and Leopoldo Suarez of Argentina were to meet Thursday in Balmaceda, Chile, 930 miles south of Santiago near the rugged Andean area both countries claim.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno challenged the Indonesian Parliament today to relieve him if it is dissatisfied with the way he is running the country.

There was no indication that the 600-member provisional People's Consultative Assembly would take up the challenge. It elected Sukarno president for life in 1963.

The president once more demanded that his full powers, which the army curtailed in the wake of the attempted coup on Oct. 1, be returned to him.

LONDON (AP)—Legalized off-track betting in Britain, a $2.8-billion-a-year business, has failed to keep gambling within reasonable bounds and is seriously hurting the economy, a member of a New York survey team said today.

Henry D. Paley said the report found that the poorest Britons gambled the most. This hurts the economy because it diverts money from normal consumer goods purchases by the working class, he said.

Viet Servicemen Get Georgia Flags

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Gov. Carl E. Sanders says he has allocated $600 from his emergency fund to buy Georgia flags for servicemen in Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson reportedly will buy the flags and see that they get to Georgians on the fighting front.

In the battle south of the abandoned Michelin plantation, the Communists opened with a blaze of 50-caliber machine-gun fire from both sides as companies of the 1st Division battalion changed positions during a sweep of a road.

"It was a time of maximum confusion and we paid for that," a bearded combatant said. At one point the Communists hurled themselves on elements of the battalion in bugle-blasting, human waves, forcing some of the infantrymen to abandon their wounded. The Americans regrouped and battled their way back to pick up their bleeding buddies.

The fighting raged so close both sides tossed hand grenades at each other. An American lieutenant was killed as he called over his field radio for an air strike. A wounded sergeant took the microphone to direct the jets against the enemy.

The Viet Cong carefully sprung their trap, planting grenades in tree beforehand. When some of the GIs sought refuge in the thick foliage, the Communists pulled wires which released the grenades onto the Americans. Many of the grenades failed to explode, the U.S. infantrymen said.

Sgt. William Henry of Colton, Calif., said he had seen nothing in the Korean War to exceed the savagery of the plantation battle.

Helicopters lifted in a company of troops to reinforce the Americans while artillery and air strikes pounded the enemy positions.

U.S. spokesmen were unable to say whether the enemy force was made up Viet Cong guerrillas, North Vietnamese regulars or both.

Accidents

One man was taken to Bothwell Hospital by police at 2 a.m. Sunday after he told officers he was knocked to the ground when a car he was preparing to get into was struck by another auto.

Police said Ralph Naylor, 26, 1604 South Montauk, complained of pain in the lower back and an injury to the ring finger on his left hand. He was later released from the hospital.

The mishap occurred on private property on LeRoy's parking lot at Ninth and Limit, and police reported a 1958 DeSoto, being backed up by Joe W. Gresham, 43, 506 North Prospect, struck a parked 1960 Buick owned by Jerry B. Houchens, 1409 West 11th. Naylor was entering the Houchens auto when the mishap occurred.

Minor damage was listed to the Gresham car and the right front of the Houchens auto was damaged.

Juveniles Fire Air Rifles At Passing Autos

Two juvenile boys, one 14 and the other 13, will be talked to by Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn regarding the shooting of automobiles with a BB gun Sunday evening on Highway 65 about 3½ miles south of Sedalia. Two motor vehicles had windows shattered when the boys hit target with their shots.

The first vehicle, a 1961 Chevrolet stationwagon, was being driven north by Wilbert Eugene Hogue, 45, 10801 Cambridge, Kansas City, when the right rear window was shattered. Moments later a second car was the target, a 1962 Chevrolet sedan driven north by Robert Arthur Kreissler, 32, 1218 Fairview Drive, Independence, who reported the right front door glass of his car was shattered by a pellet.

Occupants of both vehicles escaped being injured from flying particles of glass.

Hogue stopped at Flat Creek Inn and notified Trooper William Southwick of the State Highway Patrol. While Trooper Southwick was checking the report, Kreissler drove in on the driveway and reported his incident.

Accompanied by Kreissler, who had already returned to the area and was unable to locate anyone, Trooper Southwick drove to the area and they were unable to locate any boys.

Later Southwick returned to the vicinity and started going to farm houses to see if any boys had been seen with such guns. At one home, one of the boys stepped out and Southwick asked him "where's your gun?" and the youth replied, "down in the basement."

The Trooper talked with the boy's mother, then brought the second boy, who was visiting at the house, to his home here in Sedalia where he was turned over to his parents.

Southwick said he would report the incidents to Glenn for further action.

A Togetherness Test

Predict Some Irritability For Cramped Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The marathon voyage of Gemini 7 is a true test of togetherness for two buddies, Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. and don't be surprised, doctors say, if they exchange a few sharp words toward the end of the flight.

For two weeks, the two astronauts will sit at each other's side, eating, sleeping and working at the same time in quarters no larger than the front seats of a small foreign car.

"I would be really quite surprised frankly if we don't see some fatigue or irritability that goes with fatigue," Dr. Charles Berry, the flight's medical director said. "That's an awfully small spacecraft."

"Whether that irritability will be directed toward the ground, and sometimes each other, is hard to tell because these guys get along real well together," he added.

The two voluble astronauts like to kid about that possibility. "We figure that by the 10th day we won't be speaking to each other," joked Borman before the flight. "It will be something like Jim calling up Mission Control Center and asking them: 'Will you please ask Borman to turn down the cabin light?'"

Borman, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Lovell, a Navy commander, are actually spending more of their day-to-day waking hours together than did astronauts on previous Gemini flights.

There's a reason for it. Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper, the command pilot on the eight-day flight of Gemini 5, and Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., the pilot, complained that when one crewman tried to sleep, the slightest bit of noise from the other would be disturbing.

"We also found that to go to sleep at 2 o'clock or 3 o'clock in the afternoon just didn't work out as well as just going to sleep at your normal nighttime," Cooper said.

Officials want Borman and Lovell to maintain a work-rest cycle as near as possible to the one they keep on earth. The flight plan calls for a normal quitting time for the crew of about 9 p.m. (EST), when they go into a 10-hour rest and sleep period.

Berry said general habitability — merely getting along for extended periods in the cramped quarters of a spacecraft — is "one thing that concerns all of us."

"I think how these guys are going to be able to respond and get along with each other is going to be very important," he added. "But if I was going to put my money on somebody to do this, I'd certainly put it on this crew."

Doctors reported Sunday that the 70-year-old premier needs several days of rest.

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavian Vice President Alexander Rankovic praised the U.S. aid to the independent Communist country. He spoke Sunday at the opening of the first stage of a big hydropower station, for which the United States granted a $15-million loan. Rankovic said the loan, "like other credit arrangements which we have received from the United States, represents mutually beneficial and constructive economic cooperation."

Viet Nam, Great Society May Vie for Budget Spot

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The Viet Nam conflict and the Great Society may stage a private war of their own in the next few weeks as a new federal budget is hammered out.

Costs of both have been rising. The first casualty appears to be hopes of another tax cut. But if the military spending rises much faster, some of the Great Society programs may have to be set back in their timing.

These new programs have been estimated to call for more than $30 billion over the next five years. How much more the war will cost is shrouded in considerable mystery and uncertainty.

Together the war and the new social programs already have increased the federal deficit this year well above the estimate of last January.

The new budget which President Johnson will submit to Congress next month will outline spending plans for the fiscal year starting next July 1. The rest of this month the President and heads of government departments will be trying to choose between various spending proposals. The object: to try to keep total expenditures within a liveable range of probable tax collections — a range that doesn't threaten a dangerously large deficit.

This year the Congress appropriated a record $119 billion, $13 billion more than last year. But the First National City Bank of New York points out today in its December letter that the impact is yet to be felt since in addition to appropriations it "authorized huge amounts as part of new welfare legislation" which will call for appropriations in future years.

Since the President has promised to ward off inflation wherever it threatens, many private economists now feel that this year the shaping of the new federal budget will be done with much more of an eye to cost cutting than a year ago, when Defense Department spending was declining instead of rising as today.

The outcome of such frugality, if it develops, could affect many government activities, old and new. The more the Viet Nam war costs rise, the tighter the squeeze on sums available for the Great Society programs. The bank economists think both the President and the Congress will be more inclined to give fiscal restraint top priority.

Budget drafting in the next few weeks should give a clue.

Goulet Not In Favor Of TV Spy Job

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some-times you wonder about actors. Take a fellow like Robert Goulet. The robust Canadian can pull down a few hundred thousand a year merely by exercising his singing voice in night clubs, concerts and television. So why would he chuck it for the precariousness of a spy television series.

"For two reasons," he explained during a brief stopover here. "One is that a series will give me a chance to stay in one place for six months, something I haven't been able to do for the past three years.

"The other reason is that a television series might convince movie producers that I can act. They may be in doubt after my first two pictures."

His films were "Honeymoon Hotel" and "I'd Rather Be Rich." To put it kindly, they did not fulfill the promise he displayed as Lancelot with Richard Burton and Julie Andrews in "Camelot" on Broadway.

Goulet has canceled a flock of munificent singing dates to begin production in Munich next week on "Blue Light," which will debut on ABC Jan. 12. He reported that his take per week will be $5,000, out of which he must pay his manager and company expenses. Thus he'll end up with just about what he could earn in one night in Las Vegas.

"To afford the show, I had to build up a backlog of resources," Goulet remarked. "That's why I just did a tour of college concerts.

"If the show should survive for a few years, I'll be the winner in the long run."

Its chances? "Blue Light" will start with one or two strikes against it. For one thing, series that debut in midseason seldom succeed. For another, spies are profuse on television this year.

The story line of "Blue Light" — that's Goulet's code name — has him portraying an Allied agent in Nazi Germany during the last World War. The first half dozen shows will be filmed in actual locales of Munich, Berchtesgaden and other Hitler haunts. Then the company re-

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Space Fete, Pigskin On Same Screen

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co.'s television network, in its coverage of Saturday's Gemini launching, may have hit upon an answer to commercial broadcasting's most difficult problem: how to please all of the people all of the time.

NBC tried to satisfy only two groups simultaneously: the sports fans and the space fans. It was done by showing the rocket, poised on its pad, in the upper left quarter of the screen the remaining three quarters were occupied by the Penn-Maryland football game. Then, a few minutes before launch time, the football was relegated to the quadrant, and the rocket became the star of the screen.

If the NBC magicians can split the screen that way, they certainly can slice it into four quarters. And think of the audience — "Hullabaloo" for the teen-agers in one quarter, "The Bob Hope Theater" for adults in another, "Branded" for the masculine audience, and "Dr. Kildare" for the ladies, all at the same time. What a rating! What a prospect!

But four simultaneous shows would probably be no more schizophrenic than two. It was hard to concentrate on either activity.

The experiment seemed to amuse NBC commentator David Brinkley, who at a point when the rocket was in the center of the screen apparently aimed at the football game, noted that "this is the first time a rocket has been launched from the 50-yard line."

ABC and CBS, providing full-screen treatment, did their usual informed job.

Just What I Wanted

So Christmas has sneaked up on you again.

Here it is, right on top of you, and you have done nothing.

And even though this is the year common sense is to prevail and bankruptcy is to be thwarted, there are certain people you really ought to remember with a little something. The wife and kids, for instance.

No problem. One Texas department store has been doing your Christmas thinking for you. One short swipe at your pocketbook, and your holiday shopping is done.

The Little Woman? How about a nice, warm wrap? Nothing fancy, but practical and utilitarian.

This shop has just the thing—a comfy coat made out of Russian barguzin pelts at only $75,000. A one-of-a-kind gift. It figures. You can go days without seeing a Russian barguzin alive or pelted.

The baby sitter? Well, a handkerchief ought to do. After all, the main thing is to let the kid know that you thought of her. How about a nice hanky of handspun linen? For $300. This takes care of that.

Your secretary? Got to watch it here. No black nighties or lacy lingerie for this doll, to start office tongues wagging. Something nice but unobtrusive, maybe even a bit cultural.

Well, the china department happens to have quaint porcelain teapot, fired by Dorothy Doughty, not in some old public oven but in her very own kiln at home. A steal at $20,000.

Now, how about the mail carrier, the laundryman, the trash collector, the paper boy?

Here's the perfect answer. A Christmas party!

This store will fly you and up to nine friends to Athens (first class, natch) for 25 golden days and starlit nights (see, they even guarantee the weather!) aboard the magnificent SS Romantica. Your own private cruise yacht. With 24-foot swimming pool, air conditioning, gourmet meals prepared by skilled international chefs. Ports of call: the isles of Greece, Turkey, Egypt.

How much? Probably not as much as you'd think. Only $145,802. Bet you thought it would cost at least $145,803. And think of the service you'd get out of those guys next year!

Well, there you are. All set. And you thought you had a Christmas problem!

Merry Christmas—and a prosperous New Year. You may need it.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

An explanation of the use of parking meters with a suggestion they be given a six months' trial in Sedalia, was made to Mayor Julian Bagby and members of city council by W. M. Johns, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce safety committee. Other members of the committee are: J. C. Campbell, Hugo Sparr, G. V. Jones, Frank G. Buchanan and L. L. Studer. Council directed an ordinance be prepared for that purpose. Ellsworth Green, secretary of the Chamber, reported many complaints from area shoppers about the lack of parking lots and on-street parking spaces in the Sedalia shopping district.

LBJ Lets Military Dominate Decisions

BY DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Most urgent personnel problem facing LBJ is right inside the White House—namely, what to do about McGeorge Bundy, who has been offered a big job but actually doesn't want to leave; and what to do about Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, who has been participating more and more in problems outside the Pentagon.

The President is reported inclined to replace Bundy with McNamara making him Assistant President and the second most powerful man in the USA. This raises two significant questions:

1. Will McNamara, as coordinator of foreign affairs inside the White House, supersede Dean Rusk, Secretary of State?

2. Will military thinking dominate our foreign affairs, supposedly directed by civilians?

The answer to the first is that Dean Rusk doesn't seem to mind having Bob McNamara barge into foreign policy. They get along well together; even cooperate in making mistakes together. At the end of their joint meeting in Honolulu, Nov. 20, 1963, they issued a formal statement promising that 300 U. S. troops would leave South Viet Nam Dec. 3, 1964, and that 1,000 more would depart before the end of 1964. This, they said, would leave 15,500 American troops in South Viet Nam.

Today is Dec. 6, 1965, and the 300 troops that were to leave by Dec. 3, 1964, have not yet departed. Instead of 15,500 U. S. troops in South Viet Nam, we have sent in more than 150,000, with approximately 30,000 more on the way.

Dean Rusk has not yet joined his friend, the Secretary of Defense, in the latter's recent statement, "We have stopped losing the war," which came as a surprise to many Americans because, judging from Pentagon statements, we were winning the war.

But, in any event, no sparks would fly around the White House if the President superimposed Bob McNamara, in effect, over Dean Rusk as an Assistant President.

Military Advice Prevails

The answer to problem number two is that military thinking has already dominated our supposedly civilian foreign policy for some time.

Specifically, and quite recently, we have had the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, serving as Ambassador in South Viet Nam, and it was the Joint Chiefs of Staff who really sold Johnson on the policy of bombing North Viet Nam—a policy which Secretary McNamara now tacitly admits has been a failure.

It will be recalled that on the night of Feb. 6 and the early morning of Feb. 7, when a hastily called White House conference decided to bomb North Viet Nam, Secretary of State Rusk was in Florida, ill, and George Ball, the acting Secretary of State, argued against the bombing. He knew that Soviet Premier Kossygin had just arrived in

Practical Education

Critics of modern education complain that much of the information students receive today is impractical and of little use in everyday living.

Their attention is directed to an orientation program offered by Michigan Technological University at Houghton.

Located in the upper Michigan peninsula, in the midst of almost 10 million square miles of forest, Michigan Tech provides its freshmen with a course in wilderness survival.

Can you be more practical than that?

William Embry, sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Embry, former well known Sedalians, have won honors in Kansas City athletics. Ben has been elected captain of the Westport High school football team and William has been chosen as a member of the all star team composed of the best football players from all Kansas City schools.

Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam, and while he did not know specifically that Kossygin was in our corner, the State Department suspected it.

Later developments have shown that one day before we started bombing North Viet Nam, Kossygin had actually urged the Chinese to help end the war in Viet Nam, or as the Chinese put it, "Serve as a pawn for U. S. imperialism."

However, on that fateful night, acting Secretary of State Ball was overwhelmed by the arguments of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Their advice prevailed.

Therefore Bob McNamara's transfer to the White House would really make no change in the fact that the military dominates U. S. foreign policy today.

Bundy's Role

The one man who has spoken out against military domination in closed door conferences is the White House adviser who now may be leaving, McGeorge Bundy. In the last few months he has been joined by Arthur Goldberg, U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations, and by Vice President Humphrey.

Bundy is a former dean of Harvard, the son of an Assistant Secretary of State in the Hoover administration, and once wrote a book with elder statesman Henry L. Stimson on Stimson's experiences as twice Secretary of War and once Secretary of State. Stimson knew the perils of atomic war and passed on these fears to his young collaborator.

Bundy cannot speak out publicly as can McNamara. He fights his battles in the privacy of the White House. In various high level conferences, however, Bundy has differed with military advisers, sometimes also with the President.

Despite this, Bundy has been close to the President. Johnson likes him and has leaned on him.

Whereas some of the old Kennedy staff in the White House were aloof from LBJ, Bundy has been loyal and devoted. It is not true that he has remained only because he cherished an ambition to be Secretary of State, nor that he wants to leave the White House now. He doesn't.

The President has been a bit irked, first because he thinks Bundy wants to leave, second because the Ford Foundation leaked word that it had offered Bundy $75,000.

There is nothing in the world that Lyndon Johnson likes less than news leaks. And he may well think that Bundy has leaked this column to me. I hasten to point out that, having been out of the United States and in the hospital myself for some time, I have not seen McGeorge Bundy for four months.

Originally I thought Bundy was not the best influence on Lyndon Johnson. It was Lyndon Johnson who convinced me otherwise. It would be too bad to have Bundy depart. However, it would not materially change American policy. That policy has long been dominated by the military and will so continue.

Interest Hike Baffles Johnson

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is finally baffled.

He put the heat on business and labor to prevent inflation by keeping prices and wages down. But William McChesney Martin Jr. had his own ideas on how to prevent inflation, and Johnson couldn't do a thing with him.

Martin, just a few days short of 59, is a conservative, tight-money man and chairman of the Federal Reserve Board which under law is set up to operate independently of the President and Congress.

Martin's seven-man board thought one way to put a brake on inflation was to raise interest rates, which was the opposite of Johnson's thinking. He feared higher interest would put a brake on the booming economy.

Sunday night the board, ignoring Johnson, went ahead, boosting the rates.

The man whose foresight in all this turned out best was Johnson's fellow-Texan and Democrat, Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee.

Last June, Martin made a speech at Columbia University, saying there were "disquieting similarities" between the present prosperity and the boom that preceded the 1929 market crash and the depression of the 1930s.

The stock market promptly took a dive. Many brokers thought Martin's speech was a factor in that Patman said Martin had parted company with the Johnson administration and should step out, letting the President appoint his own chairman.

(The President appoints the board members, with Senate approval, but he can't fire them. They have fixed terms. Martin's is 14 years. He was first appointed by President Harry S. Truman, was reappointed by President John F. Kennedy.)

Johnson's secretary of the Treasury, Henry H. Fowler, took a sunnier view than Patman. He said he didn't see anything in Martin's words foretelling action by the board to raise interest rates.

Johnson talked with Martin, said he saw no reason for "gloom or doom." But months passed and Johnson must have sensed or learned what the board had in mind, for Sunday the Washington Post said that last week Johnson phoned Martin from his ranch, asking him down for a weekend talk.

The Post said that Martin said he couldn't go until Monday and then on Friday, Martin called a Reserve Board meeting which Sunday night ordered an increase from 4 to 4.5 per cent in the discount rate banks pay when they borrow money from the Federal Reserve.

This would immediately affect major borrowers like corporations. The rates would also affect mortgage borrowing.

They probably will not directly affect consumers' interest rates but interest rates affect everyone, directly or indirectly.

Johnson issued a statement deploring the board's actions. There doesn't seem much he can do about it. Patman said Johnson should demand Martin's resignation and promised an investigation of Martin's actions by his committee.

A letter from Wyoming reads in part, "How can average players learn how to work a squeeze play? Are they only for experts?"

The answer is that anyone can work a squeeze play and that chances are that our Wyoming reader may have worked some without actually knowing that he had done so.

South is rather unhappy with the king of hearts opening lead, but there is nothing he can do but follow suit. East plays the nine and West continues with the ace and jack. East ruffs dummy's queen and returns the queen of diamonds.

Some players would just give up. Others would play it out in hope of a miracle. The expert recognizes a possible squeeze situation.

He notes that dummy's last heart is a threat against West. The only other threat is dummy's third club. It isn't much of a threat but if it turns out that West started with five or more clubs, it is going to be a sure trick. In any event, there is no harm in hoping.

South wins the diamond in dummy and runs off three trump tricks. West discards two clubs and South begins to hope. Maybe West did start with five clubs. South cashes his ace of diamonds and leads a fourth trump. West throws away a low diamond and now South leads his last trump.

By this time West has run out

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Two License Plates For Missouri Cars?

Two license plates for each car, issued yearly—that's what might be in the offing for Missouri motorists. Governor Warren E. Hearnes is in favor of such a proposal and there's a good chance it will become law, if some of the bugs can be worked out.

The Highway Patrol has long advocated the two-license plate per car idea for purposes of law enforcement. The need for change of the present system came into focus recently when a woman acquainted with an inmate of the Moberly Medium Security Prison—which makes the renewal tabs—was arrested and found to have a quantity of the tabs in her possession. The tabs, it was found, were not stolen but were duplicates. Nevertheless, the late Col. Hugh Waggoner, superintendent of the Highway Patrol, explained that due to such undetected thefts and duplicate tabs, the state was losing untold amounts of money.

One of the favorite tricks of the "tab grabbers" is to cut off the corner of the license plate which has the small adhesive tab on it and transfer it to their own car with some tricky bolting. The number of applications for duplicate tabs brought attention to this practice.

Mismatched tabs are hard to detect, because the serial identification numbers at the bottom are for bookkeeping purposes and small in size. The small tabs, which come 50 in a book, are easily stolen if some unauthorized person had access to them, it was pointed out.

Presently the tabs are issued for yearly renewals and license plates are issued every five years. Under the plan advocated by the late Col. Waggoner and Governor Hearnes, tabs would be done away with and license plates—two for each car—would be issued every year.

It would be easier for Troopers to identify such plates from across a highway, and the Highway Patrol theorizes the state would gain enough in revenue by eliminating losses to pay whatever the additional cost of the plates might be.

The tabs cost about 5 cents each to produce; plates cost about 10 cents, or 20 cents per car. This would require an ap-proportion at the onset of any changeover, but Governor Hearnes hasn't indicated whether he'll ask for it at the special session early next year or not. It seems probable, however, in view of his support of the measure.

If the change were to take place beginning July 1, 1966—the start of the 1966-67 fiscal year—there is at least one bug still to be worked out. If two plates are issued beginning in July, what would people who had renewed their old plates between January and June be required to do?

Budget Hearings: A First Preview
Budget hearings in the State Capitol, which are set to end Dec. 9, mark the first time that a governor has actually conducted the hearings himself on his executive budget requests.

The hearings are a preview for administrators, agency heads and even college and university officials of the Senate and House appropriation committee hearings which will take place during the special session. The session will be devoted mainly to budgetary affairs.

From the present hearings, the Governor will determine what action to take on amounts requested before he issues his Executive Budget for presentation to the General Assembly. It's sort of a screening process, because the Governor, as chief executive of the state, is responsible for the fiscal affairs of Missouri. The Governor's budget will have to be in line with the predicted current income of the state prior to submission to the General Assembly.

The process goes like this: By tradition, the chairman of the House Appropriations Committee takes the figures in the executive budget and introduces them in a series—about two dozen or so—of bills. Next, House appropriations hearings begin and agency and department heads may appear before the committee to ask for more money, etc. The House usually accepts its committee's recommendation and sends them to the Senate, where the hearing process is duplicated, and amendments made. This means a House-Senate Conference committee gets the next try and does the final polishing before the bills go to the Governor.

Through his "item Veto," the Governor can reduce or eliminate—but not increase—amounts called for in the bills. After any final action by the Governor, the bills become law.

We the Women

Chances for Success

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pick up the paper almost any day and, if you're a woman, you'll see an article telling you how to make your husband a success.

In order to be successful and feel successful at their jobs wives need help as much as husbands do.

In fact, just about every rule laid down for women to help their husbands could as well be used by husbands to help their wives.

Millett, a more successful homemaker if her husband followed that same rule in regard to her?

Rule two is almost sure to be: "Make his home life happy." Well, what about your home life? It ought to be happy, too. And a woman with a grouchy or uncommunicative husband has as much trouble feeling like a successful human being as a husband with a nagging or indifferent wife.

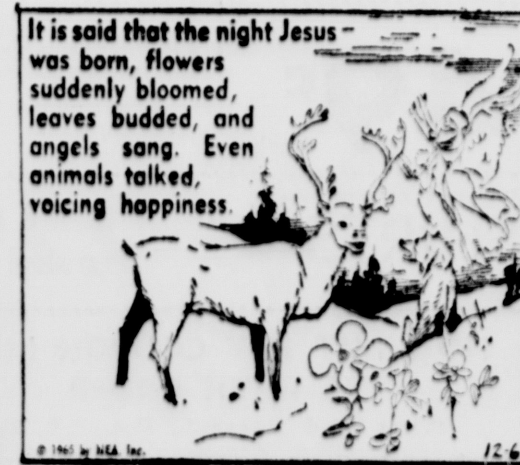

Rule three is probably: "Be an asset to him socially." Well, that ought to work both ways, too. It's a rare woman who doesn't put herself out to be charming to her husband's friends and business associates, however dull they may be. But the husband who makes no effort to be sociable to the friends of his wife that he finds boring isn't a rare bird at all.

Rule four is, of course: "Learn as much as you can about your husband's business, so that he can at least discuss it with you." But if mom is going to listen with bated breath while dad discusses problems, shouldn't he at least come out from behind his newspaper when she wants to talk about her day?

So let's remember, husbands, that the rules are not just for wives. You, too, can give the little woman a chance for success once in a while.

FARMING---

Across Pettis County

By LARRY HALE
Director, MU Extension Center

Dates Ahead

Tuesday, Dec. 7 — Hog Farming House tour to start at 10:30 a.m. at Highway 24 and D Junction in Lafayette County. First stop will be at Byron Kronsage farm at Napoleon, Mo.

Feeding the Pleasure Horse

The greatest expense of ownership of a horse is his feed. It can be minimized by (1) keeping a healthy horse, (2) feeding a balanced ration according to need, and (3) by purchasing feeds discriminately that meet the needs of the animal.

In summer, grass is the natural feed for horses. This fall's dry grass is usually low in protein and vitamins, and heavy grazing can create a parasite problem.

Dry roughages are the main source of feed in winter. The most important consideration in selecting a roughage is that it be free of dust and mold. Otherwise, heaves and colic may result. Early cut hays, properly cured, are much preferred.

Confined idle adult horses will eat about 15-20 lbs. of a good quality mixed hay daily when no grain is fed. Hay need not be fed in amounts that cause gross wastage nor should it be limited to amounts that force animals to eat stems.

Legume hays are higher in protein and minerals and are more palatable than grass hays. They make excellent horse feed and should be included in the rations of young growing animals, breeding animals, and many adult working horses.

Grass hays yield less per acre, are lower in protein, calcium, and vitamins; but are less likely to be moldy and dusty than legumes. They are usually cut too late to yield quality hay and are often priced higher than their feeding value justifies. Good timothy hay is useful in horse rations but it is not at all necessary.

Grains are high-energy feeds used with hay to regulate energy intake of the animal commensurate with work performed, growth made, and/or reproductive performance. Medium-sized, hard-working horses may need as much as 12 lbs. or more of grain and an equal amount of hay daily to maintain body weight; whereas adult idle horses may get fat on grass alone.

Thumb Rules of Feeding: Mature idle horses, pasture free-choice or 2 lbs. of hay-100 lbs. body weight; Light work (under 3 hours), 1/2 to 3/4 lb. grain, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lbs. hay-100 lbs. body weight; Medium work (3 to 5 hours), 1 lb. grain and 1 lb. of hay-100 lbs. body weight; hard work (over 5 hours), 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lbs. grain and 1 lb. hay-100 lbs. body weight; feed grains in small amounts and often when necessary. Do not feed horses over 7 to 8 lbs. of grain at a feed. Withhold grain from fatigued horses until they are rested. Do not feed a heavy grain feed immediately prior to hard work.

Clean Sprayers
Now is the time to make sure spraying equipment is properly cleaned and taken care of for storage until use next year, says C. LeRoy Day, University of Missouri professor of agricultural engineering.

Proper care now can reduce costly repairs next spring by preventing rusting of pumps, pipes and nozzles, and breaking of hoses, he notes. Also, cleaning time can be saved next spring.

Another point in favor of good cleaning and care now is that all pesticide will be flushed out of the equipment. When spring rolls around, it's sometimes difficult to remember what the last pesticide used in the sprayer was.

If enough residue is carried over in the tank and other parts of the equipment, susceptible plants could be injured when the equipment is used next spring, Day warns.

Some suggestions for cleaning and caring for spraying equipment are:

Drain all spray material from the tank, pump, boom, and hoses. Fill the spray tank with water; run the pump; flush water through the boom.

Fill the tank again and add one ounce per gallon of household ammonia to the tank. Run the pump to discharge the solution through the boom. This helps neutralize pesticide residues.

Take nozzles apart; clean screens. Store these parts dry or place them in a jar filled with fuel oil.

Drain pump thoroughly, then coat the inside with a rustproofing material. Some suitable materials are oil soluble in water, and regular auto radiator rust inhibitor. If the tank is not rust-proof, rinse or coat the interior with oil soluble in water, or other rust inhibitor.

Farrowing House Tour
Three Lafayette County Hogmen have consented to let us take a look at their central farrowing houses. This tour will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 7, 1965.

You are invited. It is our hope to be able to hold one tour with different counties involved.

The day's schedule is: 10:30 a.m. — Meet at the junction of Highway 24 and Route D, 1 mile south of Napoleon in Northwest Lafayette County. First Stop is at Byron Kronsage — 2 miles south and 1/2 mile east of Napoleon. Byron has converted a chicken house to farrowing pens with slats. It has been in use over two years. Pens are 7'x8' and slats are oak with 3/4" to 1" cracks.

Byron has learned some things with his present set-up and intends to make some changes. We should pick up some good ideas from his experiences.

If you don't want to invest $300 per sow unit in a new house and still want some newer features, this will give you some idea on cost of converting and help make a decision of whether to convert or build new.

Second Stop at 11:30 a.m. is at the Herb Fahrmeier farm. He built his 16 sow farrowing house in the summer of 1964. He has pen on one side and crates on the other. He will tell you which he likes best. Both sides have steel slats on part of the floor.

This is a fully insulated building with two fans for ventilation. Heat lamps furnish heat.

At 12:30 there will be a family style ham dinner at Minnie's Cafe in Higginsville for $1.75.

At 1:30 p.m. there will be a discussion period at Extension Center Meeting Room with comments by Bob George, Extension Agriculture Engineer.

The Last Stop at 1:45 p.m. is at Aubrey Buchanan. He has one of the most recently built farrowing houses in Lafayette County. He has a three fan ventilation system for his 20-sow house. There are no windows. Steel slats save clean-up labor. Hot days and cold nights don't cause much stress on his sows.

We'll try to be through no later than 2:45.

There will be plastic boots for sale for sanitation purposes. Also disinfectant will be provided for those with overshoes.

Week In Business

Johnson Predicts Bright Future for US Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson predicted during the week a bright future for the nation's economy.

And he told top business leaders that he expects a record level to be achieved in 1966 without inflation.

The President discussed the outlook in an address by telephone to the Business Council in Washington from his Texas ranch.

Johnson said there must be cooperation among business, labor and the government to avoid inflation.

"Working together, they can build and sustain an economy unmatched in the history of man," he said.

"Thus, with confidence in our future, with cooperation across the board, with common sense, unselfishness and wisdom, business, labor and government have sustained the longest peacetime expansion on record — 58 months of unbroken prosperity."

Johnson added that during this period "we have been able to avoid inflation. Our prices have remained more stable than those of any industrial nation in the world."

The President said he and his economic advisers "are ever alert to danger signs" and that if any are detected "we will act accordingly."

He appealed to the businessmen, who represent many of the top companies, to support the war effort in Viet Nam.

The cost of living rose in October to a record 110.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average, the Labor Department reported. This was an advance of 0.2 per cent from September. It meant that consumers paid $11.04 for items that cost $10 in 1957-59.

The index was pushed up by higher prices for all goods and services except food.

After the report came out, Johnson called his economic policymakers — Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin, Budget Director Charles Schultze and Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers — to a special meeting.

This was interpreted at first in some quarters as an indication that the President was concerned about the price spiral.

But the White House said: "We don't consider inflation a major threat at this time, but the President's advisers always are watching the situation and studying it very carefully."

The Labor Department reported the unemployment rate fell in November to 4.2 per cent of the labor force, the lowest in eight years.

The number of unemployed totaled 2,966,000 and of employed 72.8 million.

Harold Goldstein, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the drop in the rate from October's 4.3 per cent was not considered statistically significant but showed the continued year-long drop in unemployment.

Factory orders for durable goods advanced to a record $22.4 billion in October, the Commerce Department reported. This was $2.8 billion, or 14 per cent, higher than in October 1964.

The trend in durable goods orders is considered a key indicator because it shows the volume of future business expected.

(before it stops you cold!)

"My advice, sir - get De-Icer!"

Here we go again. Wintertime driving is here and with it, those built-in problems that make life miserable. Like a frozen gas line. When moisture collects in your gas line, then freezes, the supply of fuel to the engine is choked off. You're stopped cold. But you can avoid the tow truck trip—just use American, Regular or American Super-Premium Gasoline. Each contains the real thing—DE-ICER—to prevent gas line freeze down to 40° below. Missouri Valley At Top Of MCAU League Standings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The MCAU basketball season has just blossomed, but already there is a strange look about those standings.

With a total of 10 conference games played so far, Missouri Valley, ordinarily a school that is destined for a second division berth in the loop, resides at the top of the heap.

Those Vikings own a 2-0 record compared to 1-0 readings for William Jewell and Drury. This week they'll undergo their first big test when they journey to William Jewell Friday night.

The Vikings have been the league's busiest team with six games under their belts. They own a 3-3 overall record.

Drury College of Springfield, the loop's only perfect record school, will have to survive a thorough testing if they are to keep that record unblemished this week.

Drury is 2-0 in all games, but must travel to Washington U. of St. Louis tonight and faces a tough 1-2 weekend assignment. Friday, Central Methodist invades Springfield for an MCAU game and Saturday it will be Drury vs. Austin (Tex.) in Springfield.

In the MIAA, the class of opposition declines a notch from the likes of Cincinnati, Louisville, and Loyola of Chicago to the likes of State College of Iowa, Arkansas State and Emporia State.

The conference wars begin Friday night when Maryville State journeys to Kirksville State. Saturday night Springfield State and Cape Girardeau State, both 2-0 thus far, in Cape Girardeau and Warrensburg State opens its conference schedule in Rolla.

Hawkeyes Run Over Cage Giant

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Iowa's hurrying Hawkeyes, who beat mighty UCLA at its own game last winter, have stepped out this season by running over college basketball's biggest little giant.

While two of its Big Ten neighbors were wiling in the UCLA pressure cooker last weekend, Iowa downed Evansville 80-73, snapping the NCAA College Division kings' 35-game winning streak.

The Hawkeyes, who borrowed UCLA's press-and-break system under new coach Ralph Miller last season and used it to hand the national champions one of their two setbacks, made a pitch for 1965-66 recognition by knocking off Evansville on its home court Saturday night.

The victory also evened a score for the Hawkeyes, who were one of Evansville's eight major college victims last year when the Aces rolled through 29 games without a loss. Iowa's full-court press and a 29-point, 22-rebound performance by 6-foot-7 George Peoples stopped the streak.

UCLA, which shrugged off last season's 87-82 loss to Iowa and finished with a 28-2 mark and its second straight NCAA championship, romped past Ohio State 92-66 and Illinois 97-79 over the weekend. Sophomore Mike Warren, backcourt heir to All-America Gail Goodrich, sparked the top-ranked Bruins with 23 points against the Buckeyes and 28 against Illinois.

Eight other nationally ranked powers broke on top last week but 10th ranked Kansas State was beaten twice — by Creighton 83-75 and Tulsa 70-63.

Michigan, paced by All-America Cazzie Russell, ripped Bowling Green 108-70 Saturday night after toppling Tennessee 71-63. Duke, which tangles with UCLA twice this weekend, warmed up by ripping Virginia Tech 112-79 and Clemson 83-68. Mike Lewis, the Blue Devils' 6-foot-7 soph center, had 16 points and 17 rebounds against Clemson Saturday night.

Fourth-ranked St. Joseph's of Philadelphia buried Hofstra 96-57 and Fairfield 100-74; No. 5 Vanderbilt whipped Wittenberg 87-59; No. 6 Providence beat Villanova 69-59; No. 7 Minnesota took North Dakota 73-59 and Iowa State 80-69; No. 8 Kansas downed Arkansas 81-52 and Texas Tech 74-70; and Bradley defeated Wisconsin-Milwaukee 104-68 and Northern Michigan 90-78.

MU Tigers Are At Work; School Gets More Fans

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Missouri's Sugar Bowl - bound football team is back at work and athletic director Don Faurot reports Missouri home attendance increased for the fifth straight year.

The squad watched films of the victory over Kansas in a morning session, then drilled in full pads Saturday afternoon. Coach Dan Devine said his men will work again today and Thursday then three or four times next week before going home for Christmas.

The players are scheduled to leave for New Orleans Christmas Day in four planes from Columbia, St. Louis, Springfield and Kansas City.

Devine said time precludes putting in much new offense for Florida and the drills will emphasize defense against the potent Florida passing game.

Faurot said home attendance of 248,507 broke last year's record by more than 21,000 and insured that the Tigers will break the one-million-dollar figure estimated last summer. Including road games Missouri drew 419,395 for the regular season. The Nebraska attendance of 58,330 broke the Missouri one-game record.

MVC Cagers Score Sweep Over Foes

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Missouri Valley basketball teams scored another sweep over outside foes Saturday and no league member was more impressive than Tulsa.

The Hurricane beat 10th-ranked Kansas State 70-63, at Manhattan, Kan. The key men for Tulsa were a pair of sophomores, six-foot Eldridge Webb and 6-7 Doug Robinson.

Neither Webb nor Robinson started the game. Tulsa trailed 19-13 when they came in and it was 24-15 before the comeback started.

"Webb didn't set the woods on fire at Colorado," said Joe Swank, Tulsa coach. "They blow sophomores up big and he thought he'd do great in the first game. I benched him. He played well tonight."

The other Valley teams were at home and all won, with St. Louis and Cincinnati beating highly-rated opposition. This gave the Valley a 14-1 season mark against outside teams, including 12-0 at home.

St. Louis clipped Southern California 77-72 as Bob Cole hit 18 points and Rich Parks scored 22. Cincinnati, with Ron West scoring 23, beat Miami's Mid-American Conference co-champs 68-58.

Bradley's 9th-ranked Braves handled Northern Michigan 90-78, with Joe Allen, 6-7 sophomore, pumping in 28.

Wichita's defending Valley champions ran taller New Mexico State into the boards, 103-67 in its season opener with Jamie Thompson scoring 31 and getting 13 rebounds. Drake outclasses South Dakota State 90-65.

Louisville and its talented rookie, Westley Unseld, beat Central Missouri at Warrensburg 81-72. North Texas edged Trinity, Tex., 78-74.

The new North Texas coach, Dan Spika, put his team through a heavy drill on combating the full-court press, immediately after the game. NTS nearly blew a 23-point lead to Trinity's full-court press.

Valley teams play 16 more games with outside teams this week, starting with South Dakota at Tulsa and New Mexico State at Bradley tonight.

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco 49ers cracked a dogged Detroit defense in the fourth quarter for two touchdowns and a 17-14 victory over the Lions. Here, in the first quarter rookie fullback Ken Willard, who scored the winning touchdown from one-yard out with four minutes left in the game, cracks the left side of the Lions line for five yards before being stopped by Wayne Walker and Tom Vaughn (behind). At right is quarterback John Brodie. (UPI)

Had a Good Game

Carlton Might Go Into Hiding Now

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wray Carlton's wife is in for a tough week. He's had another good game.

It was so good, as a matter of fact, that the Buffalo running back undoubtedly will cut off the daily newspaper, pull down the window shades and become a recluse in the Carlton household.

Carlton, normally a halfback, ran from the fullback position — and all over the defensive positions — as the Eastern Division champion Bills experimented with a new backfield en route to a 29-18 American Football League victory over Houston.

Carlton took over for Billy Joe at fullback, while Bobby Smith ran from the halfback position, and rambled for 148 yards in 11 carries including an 80-yard touchdown run. He was so effective there's no doubt his name will be in the newspapers — the last thing he wants.

"Every time I get my name in the paper, something happens to me — a bad game or an injury," said Carlton recently. And it's hard to blame Carlton, whose career has been marked by injuries, for feeling that way.

It's been a different story this year with Carlton entering the game as the leading Buffalo rusher with 371 yards gained in 11 games. Against the Oilers he jumped the total almost half again to 519 — 14 yards off his best season with two games to go.

While the Bills were trying to get aligned for the championship game, the San Diego Chargers were trying to get in it and moved within one victory of the Western crown by crushing the New York Jets 38-7 Saturday. Oakland remained in the race with a 29-18 victory over Denver.

Carlton's touchdown run burg 81-72. North Texas edged Trinity, Tex., 78-74.

The new North Texas coach, Dan Spika, put his team through a heavy drill on combating the full-court press, immediately after the game. NTS nearly blew a 23-point lead to Trinity's full-court press.

Garrett And Grabowski Finish 1-2

NEW YORK (AP) — All-American Mike Garrett of Southern California and Jim Grabowski of Illinois, two hard-hitting workhorses, finished 1-2 in the 1965 major college football rushing race.

Garrett, Heisman Trophy winner as the nation's top player, won the title with 1,440 yards, according to figures released today by the NCAA. The sturdy 5-foot-9 Trojan halfback carried 267 times in 10 games, only three less carries than the single-season record set in 1951 by Hardin-Simmons' Frank Goode, who played 12 games that year.

Garrett ended his varsity career with the three-season rushing record of 3,221 yards — 55 yards more than the previous high, set by Ollie Matson of San Francisco.

Grabowski, the Illinois' 211-pound fullback, blasted his way for 1,258 yards in 252 carries. He was a close second in rushing last year behind Brian Piccolo of Wake Forest, 1,044 yards to 1,004.

Donny Anderson, Texas Tech's versatile All-American halfback, led for the second straight year in total yardage for rushing, pass receiving and returning kicks. He got 705 running, 797 receiving, 541 returning touchdowns and 64 running back punts for a 2,107 total.

Mikita Leads Black Hawks Back To Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stan Mikita likes his hockey sticks tailor made. He's not nearly as particular about his goals. Those he'll take any old way.

The slick center on Chicago's Scooter Line was getting them every which way over the weekend, firing consecutive hat tricks as the Black Hawks soared back into the National Hockey League lead.

New York's slumping Rangers were the victims Sunday night as Mikita scored three goals and assisted on another in Chicago's 6-2 romp. Elsewhere Detroit won its fourth straight, beating Toronto 5-1 as Gordie Howe scored twice and Montreal rallied gaining a 4-4 tie with Boston.

Saturday night it was Chicago and Mikita 10, Boston 1; Montreal 4, New York 3; and Detroit 5, Toronto 3.

Wesley Tops In Contest With Texas

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was no surprise to Kansas coach Ted Owens that 6-foot-11 Walt Wesley produced a 34-point game at Texas Tech after a below-par performance in an easy opening victory over Arkansas.

"I can't remember a tough game in which Walter hasn't played well," Owens said after his 8th-ranked Jayhawks beat Tech's potent Southwest Conference club, 74-70. "He is an excellent competitor."

The victory kept Kansas in the unbeaten ranks along with Colorado and Nebraska, and helped the Big Eight stay at the break-even 7-7 level against outside teams.

Kansas State was ranked No. 10 nationally in the pre-season poll despite warnings by Coach Tex Winter that it will take time for the Wildcats to develop.

Tulsa emphasized Winter's point with a 70-63 victory at Manhattan Saturday night, leaving K-State at 0-2. Tulsa neutralized K-State's massive front line and picked apart its zone defense with a smooth, smart floor game and 53 per cent field shooting.

K-State's 7-foot-1 Nick Pino scored 15 points and grabbed five rebounds.

Oklahoma's two - platoon Sooners edged Indiana 83-82 at Norman with junior George Hawkins hitting 19 and 6-7 sophomore Don Sidle 17.

Iowa State encountered too much experience and power at Minneapolis and 7th-ranked Minnesota, one of the Big Ten title favorites, won 80-69. Veteran Al Koch had 20 for Iowa State.

Missouri's Ron Coleman hit 22 but the Tigers lost 75-62 at Arkansas.

K-State still may be a strong factor in the Big Eight race, but Iowa State, Nebraska and Colorado, with victories over Texas Tech and Tulsa, look good as contenders at this stage. Kansas may need backline depth, but its starters were outstanding at Lubbock. Al Lopes hit 18 points and Delvy Lewis held Tech's Dub Malaise to only three.

The Big Eight faces a tough 17-game schedule this week, starting tonight with New Mexico at Iowa State and Northwestern at Colorado.

Officials Take Rap From Player

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — As Tennessee Coach Doug Dickey expressed surprise, UCLA's Tommy Prothro today stuck to his claim that the Volunteers-Bruins football clash here Saturday was "the worst-officiated game I have ever seen."

Reached at his home in Los Angeles, Prothro said he "still feels the same way" concerning UCLA's 37-34 loss to Tennessee.

He referred to his statement after the game that said: "It was the worst-officiated game I have ever seen. The pro all-stars couldn't have won out there today."

Dickey, meanwhile, defended Southeastern Conference officiating and said he felt Prothro's remarks were made under the stress of losing the inter-sectional tilt in the final minute of play.

"I have always felt that the Southeastern Conference's officiating is handled in a tremendously fine manner," he said. "I was surprised at Coach Prothro's comments because we always have good, sound officiating. They make mistakes, like everyone else, but I certainly feel that they are honest."

The controversy stemmed from the Vols' 65-yard drive which culminated in a touchdown with only 39 seconds left and gave Tennessee the victory.

"They (the Vols) threw a lateral once and the officials called it an incomplete pass," Prothro said. However, he refused to pinpoint any one of the eight officials — six from the SEC and two from the Pacific Coast.

Big Eight Opens Annual Winter Meet In K. C.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Big Eight conference faculty athletic representatives, athletic directors and coaches opened their annual five-day winter meetings today.

On the agenda are athletic standards, letter-of-intent programs, procedures for limiting football scholarships, size of the football traveling squad, use of closed circuit and video tape in football and post-season football.

Schedules in gymnastics, tennis, golf, track, wrestling, swimming, cross country and baseball will be drawn up.

The athletic business managers, football coaches and athletic directors will go into session Tuesday.

Faculty representatives, the Big Eight's legislative body, will meet with the athletic directors starting Thursday.

The Big Eight also announced that tickets for the 20th league pre-season basketball tournament Dec. 27-30 will go on sale Wednesday at Municipal Auditorium. Oklahoma State meets Oklahoma and Missouri faces Nebraska Dec. 27. Kansas meets Kansas State and Iowa State meets Colorado Dec. 28.

Everybody Gets Away From Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Be it on the football field or in the office, the St. Louis Cardinals let everyone slip out of their grasp Sunday.

First, Roman Gabriel eluded them and then Carl McAdams got away as the Cardinals extended their losing streak to four in the National Football League and two in the signature race with the American Football League.

Quarterback Gabriel of Los Angeles of the NFL slithered away from St. Louis linemen time after time to complete passes that carried the Rams to a 27-3 victory over the Cardinals.

Cardinal Coach Wally Lemm called his club's performance "pitiful."

But the Cardinal front office performed no better in New York, where it lost a No. 1 draft choice to the Jets on the AFL for the second straight year. First, Joe Namath, now McAdams, a linebacker from Oklahoma.

Club owners Charles and William Bidwill had "no comment" concerning the battle of the signature. But Lemm had plenty to say about the struggle for the football.

"There's more to it than injuries," Lemm said of his club, which has lost six of seven games and has fallen out of second place in the eastern division.

"We haven't got any injuries on offense and we're not moving the ball worth a darn. The fans are yelling for razzle dazzle plays, but we've got to play steady football."

The defense didn't get off lightly, either.

"I could see Gabriel with his size and strength getting away from one guy," he said, "but he was getting away from three guys."

Gabriel, 6-foot-3, 225 pounds, completed at least two long yardage passes with Cardinals hanging on him and he scrambled away from a blitz to complete a 59-yard scoring pass to Billy Truax for a 7-3 lead.

He later hit Dick Bass for 16 yards and a touchdown and finished with 17 completions in 31 attempts for 203 yards.

As the injured Bill Munsen's replacement, Gabriel now has

Tournament Awards Made

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Missouri Valley Tennis Association at its annual meeting awarded two important tennis tournaments to the Heart of America district tennis association.

The Missouri Valley adult championship and the Missouri Valley junior championship will be held next summer at the Homestead Country Club in suburban Prairie Village, Kan.

About 400 entries are expected.

The Valley association also voted in favor of open tennis competition in which both amateurs and professionals would compete, as they do in golf. The association is one of 16 regional sections of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The problem of open tennis has been avoided so far at the highest level starting with the International Tennis Federation. The Valley group includes all or part of six states.

Jack E. Buss of Des Moines was elected president of the association and Joseph T. McLaren of Kansas City delegate to the USLTA nominating committee. Other officers elected were Jack Brown of Omaha, first vice president; Dr. Harry Burrus of Webster Groves, Mo., second vice president; Mrs. A. W. Chandler Jr. of Tulsa, secretary; and Robert E. Ballinger of suburban Leawood, Kan., treasurer.

Lay Leadership Projects

Altar Society Clothing Drive Nets 3,000 Pounds

Sacred Heart Altar Society's Dec. 2, meeting was concerned almost entirely with lay leadership projects of the Parish Council of Catholic Women.

A report of the Thanksgiving clothing collection for distribution to needy throughout the world yielded 57 large boxes with about 3,000 pounds of usable clothing. This year about one third will go to Viet Nam.

Although this year's collection at Sacred Heart was about 75 per cent less than last year's yield the general quality was good. Sixteen volunteers assisted the chairman, Miss Mary Helen Mayer and Mrs. Peter Stohr, sort and pack the clothing during the week of Nov. 14-21. The boxes were banded by Charles Pfeiffer, his son and sons-in-law, and A. Odendahl, to be shipped to the Catholic Relief Services warehouse.

The start of the new project of World Apostolate of sending infant clothing to the Holy Father's store room in Rome for worldwide distribution resulted in members of the Altar Society bringing to the meeting 115 articles that could be combined into infant layettes.

Mrs. Lonia Ochs and her daughter, Miss Adeline Ochs, 505 West Third, donated three new single quilts which they had made from new materials and quilted by the Altar Society quilting group at $6 per quilt to be sent to the Rome store room for the world's needy.

During the business meeting it was mentioned that the Altar Society quilting group, which a decade ago numbered a dozen or more meeting to quilt almost every day in the week at the home of Miss Mary Helen Mayer, now has dwindled to three regulars, Mrs. Susie Westmeier, Mrs. Charles Pfeiffer and Mrs. Mary Kerns, who now quilt at the home of Mrs. Westmeier, who is chairman.

Another traditional project, the distribution of home baked Christmas cookies to the sick and shut-ins whose names are turned in before Dec. 13, was planned. Six or eight groups of Sacred Heart High School carolers will accompany the distribution of the decorated plates of cookies and sing carols in the rest homes. Members volunteered the use of their cars to transport the carolers and cookies.

Mrs. George Freese is chairman for cookie day this year. Sewers and hem-stitchers were recruited from the members to do needed sewing and making of linens used in the sacrifice of mass. Preparations were made for the serving of the Jaycees banquet in early January.

The nominating committee, Miss Charlotte Gabbett, chairman, reported the recommendation that the incumbent officers be re-elected. They are Mrs. Charles Pfeiffer, president; Mrs. Fred Kuhlman, vice-president; Mrs. Victor McFadden, secretary; Mrs. Catherine Simmons, treasurer.

The program of Christmas songs was given by the Sacred Heart High Sophomore Sextette, Kathy Fischer, Karen Arens, Patricia Maples, Ann McCloskey, Marilyn Fischer, Betty Klammert with Dixie Kemp as accompanist.

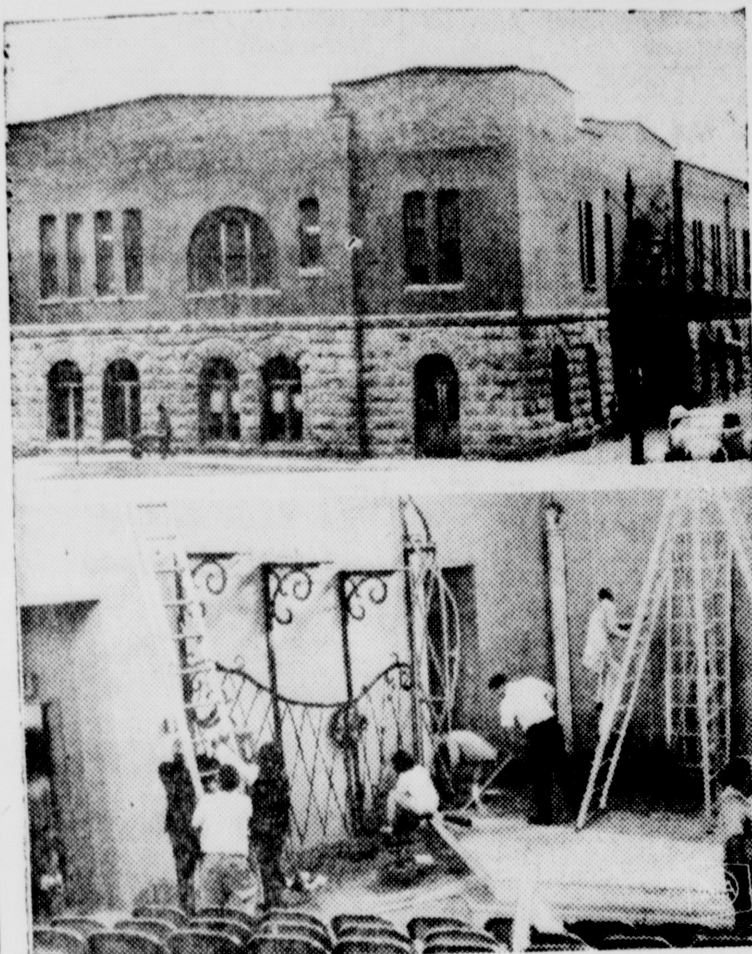

The pastor, Rev. L. J. Growney, C. P. S. spoke briefly and the meeting was followed by a social period during which doughnuts and coffee were served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Carroll.

Define Circumstance Of 'Squealing' Tires

NOBLESVILLE, Ind. (AP) — When is a squealing tire not a squealing tire? When it grates, according to Hamilton Circuit Court Judge Edward F. New.

The judge recently voided a city ordinance which provides a fine for a driver squealing the tires of a car unnecessarily within city limits. He said an ordinance must be "plainly worded." The Noblesville ordinance refers to tire squealing as "grating," he said.

STATION INTO THEATER—There are going to be crowds again at the old Illinois Central Railroad station at Louisville, Ky. Abandoned for passenger service in 1963, the old station, top, has been leased at a nominal rental to the Actors Theater of Louisville for conversion, bottom, into a 250-seat auditorium and stage.

This Christmas give the man who has everything something he's never had before

ACCUTRON "214"

Handsome stainless steel case, hand-applied hour markers. Alligator strap. Waterproof. Shock-protected. $125.00

...the right time of day.

Even the most expensive watch can't keep time as precisely as Accutron®. That's because all the mechanical parts that make a conventional watch fast or slow have been left out of it. The Accutron movement is electronic. It's powered by a battery that keeps a tiny tuning fork vibrating 360 times a second, and it comes with the first guarantee of accuracy ever given. You can't give a man a more perfect gift of time.

Warranty for average monthly accuracy within 30 seconds. We will adjust time to this tolerance, if necessary. Guarantee is for one full year. *When case crystal and crown are intact.
